BURON FITTS SEEN AS WINNER

Aimee Told By Ma Kennedy To Quit Angelus Temple

Los Angeles Night Clubs To Be Padlocked

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

On Tuesday the primary election will be held in the state of California.

* * * *

* * * *

You'll have plenty of time after work to visit your polling place Tuesday afternoon and cast your vote.

* * * *

Some of these people who will not own anything but thoroughbred dogs don't know what they are missing.

* * * *

* * * *

* * * *

A thoroughbred dog is a problem to handle. It is generally high strung and its diet must be watched.

* * * *

* * * *

With a mongrel—well, it's all different.

* * * *

A mongrel doesn't know what nerves are—it eats what it can get—and sleeps all the time; that is . . . when it isn't chewing up the house.

* * * *

* * * *

But, of course, there are those people who will insist on owning thoroughbreds, because it's the thing to do, you know.

* * * *

Perhaps the greatest American outdoor sport (not including pee wee golf) is house hunting.

* * * *

If all the shoe leather worn out in one year by people hunting for houses were piled end upon end, . . . it would surprise you.

* * * *

* * * *

Probably the best solution for one would be to build one's own house.

* * * *

But again—you never can tell.

NO 'SETUPS' MAY BE SERVED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23.—UP—First legal steps to padlock eight of the most prominent clubs in Los Angeles, Hollywood and Culver City were taken today when the United States attorney here filed abatement proceedings against them in federal court.

The clubs named in the actions were George Olsen's, Culver City; Volga Boat cafe, Venice; B. B. Cellar cafe and Moscow inn, Hollywood; Paris inn, Apex Night club, Zucca inn and Ray West cafe, Los Angeles.

Clubs Enjoined

Pending trial of the abatement proceedings Federal Judge George Cosgrave signed temporary injunctions restraining the clubs named from selling "set-ups," such as cracked ice, mineral waters and, in some instances, liquor.

The decision to institute padlocking actions was made last week, it was said, at a conference between Walter Peters, deputy prohibition administrator of the southern California district, and William Walker, prohibition administrator for California, Nevada and Hawaii.

"Set-Up Bought

Affidavits of agents asserting they had purchased sets-ups at all of the cafes named were the basis of the various actions.

The act of selling these set-ups, by itself, was sufficient to show that the management of the cafes countenanced violation of the prohibition laws, it was said.

On the signing of the temporary restraining order by Judge Cosgrave, each of the night clubs was rendered subject to contempt of court charges upon discovery of any sale of set-ups and connivance of prohibition law violations by patrons.

VOLUNTEERS AID STROM IN FIGHT FOR SHERIFF POST

J. P. Strom, candidate for sheriff is making his wind-up of an intensive campaign that has taken in every corner of the county, and every indication points to the fact that the voters will select him as their new official at the primary election to be held on Tuesday.

For the past three weeks nearly 1,000 volunteer workers have been in the field for him, and their reports are most encouraging. Strom's fight has been one of the most interesting of the year, as outside of volunteer workers, it has been made almost single handed, as he has not had a revenue of over $20,000 a year from the taxpayers of the county that he could throw into the campaign.

It is the talk of the county that the expenditures of his opponent have been most lavish.

Strom's entry into the fight was a new element into the politics of the county, as it marked the interest of a thorough business man into the affairs of the taxpayers. For the past sixteen years Strom has been in business in this county. He is a member of the board of trustees of the Richmond Union High school district, and recently was re-elected without opposition, showing the esteem in which he is held in his home section.

Strom's campaign has been made on an economy basis and he promises the taxpayers of the county, that when elected to the position which he seeks, that the expenses of the office will be much less than what it has been costing. Efficiency will be the watchword.'

Strom's headquarters in Richmond on election day will be 1229 Macdonald avenue. His telephone numbers are Richmond 242 and 145. If you have no means of getting to the polls call up on telephone and a car will be sent for you.

EVANGELIST CUT OFF IN WILL

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23.—UP—Aimee Semple McPherson was advised today by her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, to give up Angelus Temple "because it is so corrupt" and to rebuild her Four Square Gospel in new surroundings.

Mrs. Kennedy's newest announcement in the feud which resulted in her withdrawing from the Temple after a fight in which she assertedly suffered a broken nose followed closely her statement that she had eliminated both her daughter and Angelus Temple from her will.

"It would be better for Sister to give up Angelus Temple and go far into the desert and build anew, than to remain under the control of her present associates." Mrs. Kennedy said from her cot in Brentwood Sanitarium.

Temple Scored

"The Temple now is full of corruption, deceit and double-dealing. Sister apparently doesnt' realize this but some time she will see her present advisors in the same light that I do."

"I know in my heart that Sister still loves me," she continued. "but she is mismanaged and ill-advised. Eventually she will come back into my arms."

"My first will left everything to the church and to Sister, she said earlier in the day. "Its not that way now."

Large Account

The estate she said consisted of a "goodly bank account and real estate."

Mrs. Kennedy suffered a slight relapse today after a nasal operation.

The operation and the will alteration were definitely connected by "Ma" Kennedy, who said she would leave her estate to others because Mrs. McPherson allegedly struck her on the nose and broke it.

Re'apse Suffered

The re'apse was caused by a second operation, made necessary because the injured member was not "setting straight," as Mrs. Kennedy explained it caused intense pain and a slight fever.

Far removed from her mother's room in Brentwood s anitarium, Mrs. McPherson was convalescing from a nervous breakdown that at one stage was so serious her followers feared she had lost her eyesight. Visitors were denied the evangelist because of her need for quiet.

Mrs. Kennedy told of her new will after she had threatened to make public a "secret document" purporting to tell the truth about the McPherson kidnaping case four years ago and the affairs of Angelus Temple. She said the document will be given out if her Temple opponents "continue to make dirty cracks about me."

FITTS RECORD AS A REPUBLICAN BEST IN GOVERNOR'S RACE

Buron Fitts appears to be the winner in the great gubernatorial race that comes to its close in California on Tuesday.

Mayor Jim Rolph, of San Francisco will be the runner up, and Governor Young will be a poor third, according to the best information available today.

This conclusion is reached after a survey of all sections of California, bearing in mind the overwhelming voting strength of the Southern half of the state, and the plea that is being made on good grounds, that the political division known as Southern California is entitled to more recognition at Sacramento.

FITTS REGULAR REPUBLICAN

And this being a contest among Republicans, the point is well made that Buron Fitts is the only candidate whose record as a Republican is one of regularity.

Every one knows that Mayor Rolph has flirted with Democrats and so-called Progressives in San Francisco, and that in 1918 he won the Democratic nomination for Governor. It is well-known that his "kitchen cabinet" of advisers in San Francisco contains names of men who are downright Democrats.

Young's Party Record

It is equally well known that Governor Young has been aligned with the irregulars in California, and that from 1915 to the present time he could, by no stretch of the term, be considered a regular Republican.

Buron Fitts has on all occasions and in all circumstances shown his belief in Republican principles of government and his allegiance to the ideals and traditions of the Republican party.

It is pointed out, truthfully, that northern California has the governor, two United States Senators, eight out of eleven congressmen; 80 of the 120 members of the Assembly; seven of eleven major state offices; six out of seven supreme court justices; seventeen of twenty-four State University Regents.

Southern California has had one Governor in 28 years; one United States Senator in 20 years; three of the eleven Congressmen; 40 out of 120 Assemblymen; four out of eleven major state offices; one out of seven Supreme Court Justices.

For Common Fairness

In common fairness to all sections, and in recognition of the present relative importance of Southern California, economically, politically and geographically, Californians all over the State are beginning to see that southern California is not fairly treated.

And now that southern California has put in the field for Governor a man who stands four-square; who has had a gallant record in time of war and one of fine and enviable tone in time of peace, it looks as if the next Governor will be a southern California man.

Taxpayers who have grown weary of the plausible promises of the present administration to reduce taxes will sweep the Young regime into the discard.

The Rolph program appears so intangible and indefinite, if indeed it can be called a program, that thoughtful-minded people see no hope there.

Buron Fitts has shown what could be done in the conduct of the office of district attorney of Los Angeles in reducing expenses and in making the city safe for God-fearing, law-abiding, liberty-loving

FLIERS PLAN AMERICAN HOP

REKKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 23.—UP—Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, German's transatlantic "mystery" flyer, was in Greenland today ready for the third stage of his flight from Germany to America.

Still concealing his exact destination the German aviator left Reykjavik at 6:30 a. m. Friday and landed at Ivigtut, on the southwestern coast of Greenland, at 3:20 p. m.

Although the next stage of his flights will carry him somewhere along the American coast, Von Gronau continued to maintain the silence that has marked his venture since his unexpected arrival here.

Drought Aid To Be Rushed

ORANGE, Va., Aug. 23.—UP—President Hoover, Secretary of War Hurley, and Col. George R. Spalding, army engineer in charge of the upper Mississippi and Illinois river projects, conferred at length at the chief executive's camp today on proposed plans to aid unemployment in drought stricken states by speeding up flood control work.

No announcement was made after the protracted morning conference, at which the upper Mississippi and Illinois river projects also were discussed, but it was said an announcement would be made following a second conference in the afternoon.

Submarine Used By Liquor Runners

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23.—UP—Discovery of a rum running gang believed to be using submarine methods to smuggle liquor to California beaches was announced today by Walter L. Peters, deputy prohibition administrator for this district.

The discovery was made after agents last night seized 300 cases of imported Canadian liquor loaded on a truck equipped with a long cable. The cable is believed to have been used to pull ashore loaded "submarines boats" sunk to the bottom of the sea after being loaded with the illegal cargo.

Peters said that the truck and equipment was identical to one seized several months ago near San Luis Obispo. In the San Luis Obispo case the officers pulled in one of the under water boats and the cargo.

TRUCK RAZED BY BIG FIRE

MARTINEZ, Aug. 23.—Five tons of apricots were destroyed and a truck belonging to the Alpha Fruit company was burned when it caught fire while pulling a grade enroute to Oakland today. Damage was estimated at $10.000.

A trailer hauling two more tons of apricots, was cut coose from the truck and was saved.

Traffic was held up for some time by the truck, and the cans of fruit heated by the flames, burst and scattered all over the vicinity. A grass fire was also started but was extinguished.

Charity Show Planned By Elks

According to an announcement yesterday by W. W. Scott, Richmond lodge of Elks will stage a charity show this year to raise funds for its welfare throughout the year.

The show will be somewhat similar to other shows given by the lodge several years ago, and will be directed by Earl Caldwell of San Francisco.

Meetings of the lodge will be resumed next Tuesday night.

Women Fliers At Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 23.—(UP)—The five entrants of the women's national air derby from the coast to Chicago began arriving here at 4 p. m. today, from Wichita. They will remain over night.

Miss Margery Doig of Danbury, Conn., was reported forced down at Emporia.

Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, elapsed time leader, was the first to arrive here. She was followed by Jean La Rene and Mrs. Mildred Morgan in second and third position for the trip.

Ruth Barron got off her course and flew to St. Joseph, Mo., in error. She proceeded here from there.

Reports from Emporia, where Miss Doig was reported down, said she landed on a farm south of there near Olpe, a small town. She apparently was grounded without serious mishap.

One Injured In Automobile Crash

Robert Keller, 8, of 728 Pennsylvania avenue was treated at the Abbott Emergency hospital last night for bruises on the head, shoulder and arm, after he had been struck by a machine driven by Albano Bartos, of Duboce street in north Richmond, according to police reports.

Police say the youth ran directly in front of the machine and was not seriously injured.

ROLPH TO BE HERE MONDAY

The closing speech in his campaign will be delivered in Richmond by Mayor James Rolph, Republican candidate for governor.

The meeting will start at 8 o'clock. Friends and supporters of San Francisco's mayor are expected to attend the meeting.

Rheba Crawford, former Salvation Army leader, will open the meeting. Miss Crawford, known as the Angel of Broadway, will deliver a speech.

Other speakers on the program will include Daniel Ryan and Nathan Coghlan, San Francisco attorneys.

Mayor Rolph will conclude the evening with his final appeal.

Vaudeville acts will be furnished between talks. Music will be presented by the Municipal band.

Fighting Bob Tells Why He Supports Fitts

A veteran of the World war, who saw service in France, and an active member of the American Legion, living in Richmond, wrote to "Fighting Bob" Shuler, of Los Angeles, and asked him why he is supporting Buron Fitts for Governor. His answer, characteristic, is given below:

"I am supporting Mr. Fitts because he is honest, courageous, a man from the people and of the people, whose public and official life has been marked with personal sacrifice in the people's interests; a man who has not shirked the most difficult task in the State of California, that of cleaning up the Los Angeles County District Attorney's office, and in the clean-up he has demonstrated that we can have honest public officials and clean government any time we get ready to pay the price.

Buron Fitts will save the taxpayers of this state multiplied thousands of dollars if elected, and will put the state on a sane basis economically, morally and every other way.

Yours ever,
BOB SHULER."

Program For Lions Club

The session will be held at the Richmond Builder's Exchange building on Fourteenth street and the banquet will be at the Hotel Carquinez.

BAER FAVORED IN CAMPBELL BATTLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—Max Baer, the Livermore sensation, rules the favorite to defeat Frankie Campbell of this city in their ten-round contest Monday night at Recreation ball park here to decide the Pacific coast heavyweight championship.

Baer and Campbell are two of the hardest hitters in the ranks of the big men of the ring today and the fans are predicting that the battle will be a short one, with a certain knockout ending.

Baer, who has been fighting less than two years, has won 18 knockout victories in 25 contests, while Campbell has won 14 battles in a row by kayoes in about the same length of time.

The Livermore battler will have height, weight and reach in his favor, but Campbell will have experience on his side and Old Man Experience is a big factor at times. There are many followers of the sport who cannot see why Baer should be such a strong favorite, and are taking the short end.

Training for the heavyweights comes to a close on Sunday with light workouts and they will then rest up until they enter the ring along about 10 o'colck in the evening.

Promoter Ancil Hoffman is banking on a $50,000 gate. The popular promoter says the advance sale indicates it and that it is surprising the amount of orders that have come in from interior cities.

Who will referee is still a question. It lays between Jack Dempsey, Toby Irwin, Jim Griffin and Willie Ritchie, the choice remaining in the hands of Boxing Commissioner Charley Traung.

LOCAL ELKS TO MEET ALAMEDA NINE

Now that they have at last broken their unlucky losing streak, the Richmond Elks are ready to take the Alameda nine into camp when they tangle today at Alameda.

George Shaw, manager of the local antlers, is confident that Richmond's luck has changed for ever, and expects his team to be a stumbling block for the fast Alameda league-leading outfit in today's battle. The Richmond squad has three defeats to erase from its league record, and the locals have promised to expend great energy in the attempt during the next month. There is still a fairly probable chance that Richmond may yet enter the finals up near the top of the ladder as it did last year.

According to Shaw, either Bliss, who pitched a steady game against San Francisco last week-end, or Peacock will chuck this afternoon. Either Bartoli or "Swede" Jensen will be behind the plate for the locals.

The contest will be played at 2:30 o'clock at Lincoln park in Alameda.

Corey Garage Nine To Meet Odd Fellows

The championship of a three-game series between the Richmond Odd Fellows and the Corey Garagemen will be at stake this afternoon on the San Pablo diamond.

The two rivals have each divided one game between them, and should have a rather torrid debate at San Pablo today over the final decision.

Carl Kamb is scheduled to do the mound work for the lodgemen this afternoon, with John Rosano receiving. Eglight will be in the box for the Coreys while Baldwin will be behind home platter for the garagemen.

The contest will start at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at San Pablo.

Frank Crosetti Sold To Yanks

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—UP—Sale of Frank Crosetti, 19, San Francisco Seal shortstop, to the New York Yankees at a price reported at $75,000 and three players, was announced today.

Crosetti will remain with the San Francisco club next year for seasoning, and will report to the Yankees in the spring of 1392.

The three players to be acquired by the Seals in the deal will be delivered next spring.

The sale was closed by Bill Essick, Pacific coast scout for the Yankees, and George A. Putnam, secretary of the San Francisco club.

Crosetti is the second local player to be purchased by the New York Yankees, Tony Lazzeri, formerly a San Francisco sandlotter, was playing with the old Salt Lake City club at the time of his purchase.

Fords To Meet Market Nine At Bushrod Park

The Leader Market nine at Bushrod park, Oakland, will furnish today's opposition for the Moitoza Fords this afternoon. The game will start at 2:45 o'clock on the Oakland lot.

Syd Martin, who has pitched every game thus far for the Fords, will once more surmount the mound this afternoon. Anthony Moitoza will receive for the Fords.

The Fords have yet to lose their first game of the season, and it doesn't seem quite likely that they will do so before the Leader Market boys, who have already received defeats at the hands of local aggregations.

NATIVE SONS WILL MEET LINKERS

Native Sons and Odd Fellows will meet today for the championship of the 193 0season of the Richmond City Twilight league.

The year's big battle will be fought on the First street diamond at 10 o'clock this morning.

A hard hitting team and a class A fielding outfit will combine their respective talents in providing the local followers of the national pastime with the excitement that they crave. Every member of the 'linkers' outfit is a long distance slugger of note on eastbay diamonds, while every cog in the fielding machinery of the Native Sons nine is running smoothly and quickly. Therefore, today's diamond scrimmage is expected to be an "extra special" offering in local baseball circles.

Added significance is added to today's contest by the fact that it will be the first game in a two-out-of-three series between the first and second place teams of the league for a silver cup to be presented by the Mechanics Bank.

Both teams will cast their greatest talent into the fray today, as big things are at stake.

Johnny Babich, Richmond Union high school twirler, will occupy the center of the diamond for the lodgemen this morning. Young "Lefty" DeBaere will bear the chucking responsibility for the Native Sons today. Both Babich and DeBaere are comparatively new on the baseball diamonds of Richmond yet both have handed an agreeable surprise to the local baseball magnates. Their pitching should be a decided factor in the final result of today's title clash.

Two other veterans, Bill Gualdoni and Fink, will do the receiving for the Odd Fellows and Native Sons respectively.

HURLEY WINS IN TENNIS MATCH

Hurley yesterday morning successfully defeated Darrow Sutton, challenger for first place, in a fast match played on the Point Richmond courts.

Sutton was defeated by scores of 6-1 and 6-4. Sutton started off rather weakly in the first set, and was consistently baffled by Hurley's smashing drives. However, the challenger came back strongly in the second set, and things began to even up. Sutton led Hurley a hard chase in the second set, but Hurley weathered the storm largely by reason of his long experience in the net game.

Hurley has been highest ranking player in Richmond for many months, and has successfully defeated several dangerous challengers of the local courts.

The net stars of Richmond are quickly getting into fighting trim in preparation for the tournament to be fought against the Bushrod club of Oakland next Sunday on the local City Hall courts.

MISS DRESSLER IN NEW FILM AT FOX

How does it feel to have considered yourself a "has-been" after forty years of triumphs, and suddenly find yourself a greater success than ever before?

Marie Dressler grunted and grimaced when the question was asked.

"Well, I'll tell you. If you had told me a few years ago that I would live to see myself in demand again for anything I would have laughed myself to death," she replied. "To be frank with you, I am amazed—but I feel pretty good about it, you may be sure.

"However, as you may know, I have a certain philosophy of life that always has kept me balanced—in the rough spots— as well as the smooth ones. I believe that whatever success comes your way is destined for you, that you are really a creature of chance. So I do not look at my success as anything I myself have accomplished. It just happened to me.

"That philosophy worked both ways. I have had reverses in my day, many of them. And I knew they happened in spite of all I could do. They were no fault of mine. How can we say our failures are those of fate but that our successes are our own accomplishments?"

Miss Dressler's latest role is with Norma Shearer in "Let Us Be Gay" Metro Goldwyn Mayers' picturization of the kell-known stage play. She plays the part of the eccentric dowager.

Rod La Rocque plays opposite Miss Shearer and the supporting cast includes Raymond Hackett, Sally Eilers, Hedda Hopper, Gilbert Emery and Tyrell Davis. Robert Z. Leonard directed.

Postponed Net Match Will Be Played Today

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 23.—UP—The deciding match of the women's national tennis singles championship scheduled for today will be played tomorrow, between Betty Nuthall, of Great Britain, and Mrs. L. A. Harper, of California.

Rain deluged the courts today.

The rest probably will prove more beneficial to Mrs. Harper than to Miss Nuthall, for the California matron, slight of build, lacks the strength of the robust English girl. Mrs. Harper, however, is not fragile. She proved that in her semi-final engagement with Baroness Levi of Italy. The baroness was thoroughly run down when she left for the clubhouse while the Californian still appeared strong.

Miss Nuthall displayed her stamina by outlasting Marjorie Morrill, the rangy Massachusetts girl in a semi-final match that was decided mainly on strength. Both played vigorously and Miss Morrill was the first to give in.

Miss Nuthall is a decided favorite to defeat Mrs. Harper and take the title overseas for the first time in history. Equally as fine a tactician as the Californian, Betty plays a driving, smashing game which is exactly the type of tennis it takes to defeat Mrs. Harper. At East Hampton several weeks ago, Mary Grof of Kansas City eliminated Mrs. Harper by continually smashing.

KEN MAYNARD IN FILM AT RICHMOND

Ken Maynard will be seen in a different type of Western story when "The Wagon Master," the first dialogue Western, comes to the Richmond theater today.

"The Wagon Master," Maynard's first picture under his new long-term contract with Universay, pays tribute to a bold and daring type of men whose services have received little attention. These are the wagon freighters, who carried supplies to isolated mining camps and army posts in the days of the pioneer West.

"The Wagon Master" is replete with thrills. With the aid of his famous horse "Tarzan" Maynard performs riding stunts of the daring brand that have placed him in the forefront of the ranks of Western stars. The long wagon trains give a colorful atmosphere to the picture, and there is no lack of romantic interest. Stirring dialogue scenes and the rendition of cowboy songs add greatly to the picture.

As "The Wagon Master" Maynard strives against great odds to break a freighting monopoly that is starving out the mining camps of the region. Simultaneously he wages war to win the girl of his heart, portrayed by the beautiful and charming Edith Roberts.

"The Wagon Master" was directed by Harry J. Brown, a master of the art of making fast-moving, exciting pictures. Marian Jackson wrote the story.

Soccer Team To Practice Today

The first soccer practice of the season will be held at Nicholl park this morning by the athletes who will compose this years Richmond Soccer association team.

Today's practice will be largely for the purpose of ascertaining the material that will be available to the managers of the local squad.

A meeting of the Richmond soccer enthusiasts will be held next week to lay plans for the coming season.

"SWING HIGH" IS ROMANCE OF BIG TOP

To those who think that the heyday of the circus has passed, Pathe's new musical circus romance "Swing High" will particularly appeal. For this spectacular talkie deals with life under the Big Top as it existed in 1875—the most picturesque period in circus history.

In those days the circus had no machinery to put up and take down its tents, no mechanical contrivances for loading its paraphernalia on railway flat cars, no tractors to pull the heavy loads to and from shipping points.

Instead, its Big Top was erected and torn down by hardy, singing roustabouts who plied their sledge hammers with amazing skill. It moved from town to town by means of its own wagon train, bad weather often meaning mired wagons and a delay in the performance in the next town. When it was necessary to handle unusually heavy loads, elephants were employed.

The glamour and romance of the circus at its picturesque best is contained in "Swing High" which will be seen at the Fox-California theater today and tomorrow. A complete circus troupe was engaged for its filming, with all the clowns, acrobats, bare-back riders, trapeze performers, wild animals, spangles and glitter that go to make up "the greatest show on earth" playing a part.

The imposing cast includes Chester Conklin, Ben Turpin, Dorothy Burgess, Bryant Washburn, G. Fawcett, Helen Twelvetrees, Stepin Fetchit, Daphne Pollard, Robert Edeson, Fred Scott, John Sheehan, Mickey Bennett and Fred Langan.

Joseph Santley directed "Swing High" and he wrote the story in conjunction with James Seymour. E. B. Derr was the producer.

Also on the program is a Fox Movietone news and talking comedy.

Lutherans To Attend Meet At Oakland

Due to the combined Lutheran church mission service at the California Concordia college in Oakland today, there will be no services at the Trinity Lutheran church. The services in Oakland will be held jointly with the Lutheran congregations of Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and Hayward.

"These joint services are an annual arrangement with these congregations," Rev. A. W. Koehler said. "At these services the subject of 'Missionary Work and Duty' is brought to the attention of the people in a special manner. Prominent speakers are secured to address the assembly. At this years's services Rev. C. Fickenscher, Lutheran pastor, of Sacramento and Rev. A. Hansen, mission director of the California and Nevada district have been secured as speakers, the former speaking in the morning service at 11 o'clock and the latter in the afternoon service at 3 o'clock. These services are open to the public which is invited. The Lutheran chorus will sing several anthems at these services."

Christian Science Lesson Subject

"Mind" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon today in all the churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of the Mother Church the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon will include the following from the Bible: "For they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace" (Rom. 8:5,6.)

The lesson-sermon also will include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "As mortals give up the delusion that there is more than one mind, more than one God, man in God's likeness will appear and this eternal man will include in the likeness no material element. Thus the whole earth will be transformed by Truth in its pinions of light, chasing away the darkness of error" (p. 191.)

MA FERGUSON RESTS ON LAURELS

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 23.—UP—Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson laid aside her campaign armaments tonight and retired to the household duties at her home in Austin to await the verdict of Texas voters on a political race filled with contrasts.

The Democratic nominee never has failed of election to the governor's office in Texas. It is safe to predict that either Mrs. Ferguson, who once held the office, or Ross Sterling, millionaire Houston oil man, banker and publisher, will be inaugurated next January.

If Mrs. Ferguson wins, the story of the Fergusons in Texas will present a strange chapter in American political history. James E. Ferguson, husband of the woman candidate ,twice has been elected governor, and his wife held the office from 1924 to 1926.

On Ballot

A political idol without parallel Ferguson came forward first in 1914 to seek the governorship. His name has been on the gubernatorial election ballot every two years since then. He has been honored, rnudiated by impeachments and then forgiven. He is easily the outstanding political hero of the state among those who support him. Opponents of the Fergusons assert he will be governor in fact if his wife is elected.

From down on the Texas coast came Sterling, the modern Croesus who stands between Jim Ferguson and political redemption. "Honesty in government" is the stump sermon he preached during the campaign. He laid no claim to statesmanship ,but promised a business government. His life story is the chronicle of the poor boy who won great riches by perseverance and natural business talent.

Sterling ran far behind Mrs. Ferguson in the elimination primary July 25, trailing her by more than 70,000 votes. But his supporters feel confident he will get a large majority of the vote that went to nine others in the initial race. Betting odds favor him slightly.

Pa Aids Ma

Both sides expressed confidence in election. Sterling, in a speech last night at Galveston, forecast his majority at no less than 100,000.

"Pa" Ferguson, who stumped the state thoroughly for his wife, said her majority would be more than 250,000.

Support has been thrown to both candidates in the bitter campaign fight, and political mass meetings for each were held in almost every city, town and village in the state.

The Sterling cause was strongly upheld by Governor Moody, who was attorney general during Mrs. Ferguson's former administration and overwhelmingly defeated her for a second term. Moody refused to run against Sterling after he had appointed him chairman of the state highway commission.

The Fergusons centered t heir campaign attack on the "big business" methods of the Houston candidate. They charged he has "lost the common touch" during his years as a millionaire.

Mrs. Ferguson promised duplication of her former administration, announcing her intention of liberating at least 2000 convicts from the state penitentiary. She waged a strong campaign for prohibition and economy in state operation.

The business training decried by the Fergusons was offered by Sterling as a reason for his election. He rose from the ranks of a freight-boat helper and village merchant to owner of a large and powerful newspaper, and vowed that experience would enable him to run the governor's office more efficiently.

Strongest of the Sterling planks was a proposal for a $350,000,000 highway bond issue. He had the support of the press, the metropolitan and capitalistic element, and eight of the nine candidates defeated in the initial primary.

These "Endorsement"

This week sheriff Veale put out a lengthy circular, apparently sent to every voter in the county, the cost of which would amount to close to $2,000 in which he publishes alleged indorsements from every newspaper in the county, but he fails to mention anything about the report of the grand jury, or the fact that county prisoners built three homes for him, while at the same time the taxpayers of the county, were housing, feeding and clothing these prisoners, and free labor was walking the streets looking for employment.

In this circular is an endorsement from the Record-Herald of June 1926. Since that time conditions have entirely changed. In 1927 the grand jury exposed conditions under the sheriff's regime, (read grand jury report in another column) which put a different phase on the situation in the entire county, and today thousands of voters who have heretofore voted for Veale for sheriff have decided a change is necessary.

The Record-Herald is not endorsing Sheriff Veale in any manner. Its open stand during this campaign cannot be misunderstood. The endorsement Veale put in his circular is just a subterfuge.

BILLINGS PLEA TO BE DECIDED BY COURT SOON

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—UP—Members of the California Supreme court surveyed a mass of work that had piled up during a re-trial of Warren K. Billings and resolved that a similar situation should never come about.

For almost a month the court's entire time was occupied in reviewing the Preparedness Day parade here July 22, 1916 for which Billings and Thomas J. Mooney were convicted.

The court was involved in the Billings case because the California constitution provides supreme court recommendations in pardon applications by twice convicted men such as Billings.

Work Delayed

"Work of the court has been delayed by this Billings hearing," Chief Justice William H. Waste told the United Press.

"Theoretically, there is no reason why hundreds of other second offenders cannot subject the court to the same ordeal, interfering with judicial business which justices are elected to perform.

"There is no reason, outside the constitutional provision, why the governor cannot pass upon the application of second termers, the same as he does upon those of first offenders. A constitutional amendment appears to be the remedy."

The Billings re-trial ,during which all phases of the dynamiting case was considered, adjourned Thursday night so that consideration of the case would not be in progress during the primary election next Tuesday.

Report Soon

Consideration of the 500,000 word record will not start until Sept. 22 when the justices will sort the testimony ,discarding the hundreds of pages relating to gossip, hearsay and opinion.

After the court reaches a decision in the Billings case it will be forwarded to Governor C. C. Young who has indicated that Mooney will be accorded the same treatment the court recommends for Billings. Seevral months may pass before the matter reaches Governor Young.

In the meantime members of the legislature undoubtedly will start action to support Chief Justice Waste in his contention that the constitution should be changed so that a re-trial of a convict cannot block judicial work of the state's highest court.

Wagon Makers Urge Return To "Dobbin Days"

By PAUL H. KING
United Press Staff Correspondent

ST. LOUIS.—"Old Dobbin" need not fear of running out of wagons to pull—because they still are manufacturing them here, but not at the rate of 30,000 a year as in the gay 90's.

Although the wagon fast is being pushed into the background by the automobile ,truck and airplane, an announcement here said wagon production continues but at a greatly curtailed figure.

Instead of the former output of 30,000 a year in St. Louis plants, but 7000 wagons were placed on the market this year, the announcement said, and St. Louis continues the wagon making center of America.

"Old Dobbin" will consume lots of oats however, before those 7000 vehicles are relegated to the junk heap, an executive of one St. Louis company explained.

"Lines" of the 930 wagon remain about the same as in former years although there are added "gadjets" and fixtures.

Several executives here believe however ,that farmers could materially increase their profits if they would give "Old Dobbin" another chance.

"It is our belief," said an executive of St. Louis' largest wagon plant, "that the farmer is overdoing motor equipment of his farm.

"With the present low prices of corn, oats, and hay ,the man who farms with horses, in many instances, is the one making money.

"Of course, I would not advocate a complete reversal to the old farming days, but in many tasks there is no economical substitute for the horse and wagon."

According to the announcement, final plans for the bridge will be ready January 1 and construction will start soon after.

Map Tells Story of State Vote

The map of California shown here graphically depicts the strength of the vote in Southern California. The twelve counties outlined in the northern part of the state, which include the four largest counties in this section; have a total Republican registration of 568,036 while the single county of Los Angeles, the area of which is also outlined, totals 585,746 as its Republican registration. This gives the southern metropolitan center a lead of 17,710 over the 12 northern counties. Reports from the state indicate that the growing Fitts sentiment both there and in the north; and the steady losses suffered by Governor Young have completely changed the complexion of the political situation within the past few days.

TOT KILLED BY HIS PLAYMATE

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—UP—The Kurtz and Werner families, Brooklyn neighbors ,had a second severe test of their lifelong friendship to face today.

Joseph Kurtz, 27, and Charles Werner, 14, were talking over a camping trip. They went to the Kurtz home to get a .22 rifle. In the kitchen they met Helen Kurtz, 15, and Charles playfully pointed the gun at her.

"I give up—I surrender," she said laughing.

The gun accidentally went off and Helen fell to the floor, a bullet through her heart.

Two months ago John Werner, 7, brother of Charles ,was killed by a wagon driven by Joseph.

Charles was not arrested.

DIVORCES ARE ON PAR IN RENO

RENO, Nev., Aug. 23. —UP—While many cities have reported a decline in business volume this year, prosperous little Reno has nothing to complain about—the divorce market being above par.

Divorce is the principal industry here, bringing approximately $3,000,000 annually into local trade channels and, as the Reno chamber of commerce freely admits, that is a lot of money for a small city of less than 18,000 population.

E. H. Beemer, Washoe county clerk, told the United Press today there were 2106 divorce actions here in 1929 and that he anticipated an increase when the 1930 count is completed late in the year.

Fee $50

A person coming to Nevada to untangle a matrimonial tangle must live within the state for three months before filing for a divorce. The average filing fee is $50, these fees totalling $105,300 last year.

The filing fee is a small part of divorce expense, however. There are attorneys to hire and a minimum charge of $250 has been established. It is possible to live three months in Reno for $400 so on a basis of minimum figures the divorce bill for a year aggregates $474,200.

The minimum figure isn't a true one, as many of the parties to a divorce pay more than $100 per week for an apartment, while others lease or buy homes and bring staffs of servants with them. In some cases the attorney fees run into thousands of dollars. The estimate of $3,000,000 per year is conservative.

Divorcees patronize the exclusive shops, dealing in Paris importations. There are expensive beauty shops too, every bit as fine as the best in New York.

Gambling

Horse racing, gambling, night clubs and countless other forms of entertainment which abound in Reno call for the spending of money and help swell the total of divorce revenue.

A gay social life prevails here in which the average divorce seeker fits exceedingly well. Many come here to be divorced but remain forever, adding their voices to the local claim that Reno is the "biggest little city on earth." Others enjoy their stay and at the end of 90 days file for a divorce, get it in the afternoon of the same day and leave for home on the night train.

Women here for divorce outnumber men two to one. A majority list desertion and non-support in their complaints. Only five charged adultery last year.

Few Residents

Strangely enough, an insignificant number of the divorces are granted to permanent residents of Nevada. Eighty per cent of those forming the divorce colony population come from far eastern states, although every state is represented.

Frequently certificates of divorce are sealed, which means that details of the action is not made public. The seal is with a pink or blue ribbon, the party in the case being given a choice.

It was in January 1926 that Reno started in the divorce business in a big way. Prior to that six months residence here was required but Reno business interests pursuaded the legislature to amend the law.

PERU TROOPS IN REBELLION REPORT

LIMA, Peru., Aug. 23.—UP—An official today announced a revolutionary uprising of troops of the garrison at Arequipa .

The rebels captured the government authorities at Arequipa and took possession of the city, which is the second largest in Peru.

The government announced that it expects to restore order at Arequipa soon, but meanwhile issued a decree closing the port of Mollendo to all merchant ships. All commercial aviation fields at Arequipa and in the vicinity of the captured city also were closed.

The announcement said Commandant Sanchczo Cerro had instigated the uprising. He was said to have told the troops that the government would not pay them.

Officials Captured

Commandant-General Leopoldo Arias of Arequipa and Prefect Federico Fernandini were captured by the forces under direction of Sanchez Cerro.

Arquipa ,long a rival city of Lima, is inland on the railroad line in southern Peru. Millendo is its port of entry. Arequipa, capital of the department of the same name, has a population of more than 35,000 and is the center of a large trade in wool and cotton goods and mining products. It is also located in a strategic position, high on a plain some 50 miles from the coast.

The ministry of interior issued the following statement.

"The troops of the Arequipa garrison, obeying instructions of Commandant Sanchez Cerro and deceived by a false general order announcing the dismissal of troops and reduction of officers' salaries, started a rebel movement at 11 a. m. Friday, capturing Command General Leopold Arias and Prefect of the Department Federico Fernandi ,and took control of the city.

"The government has taken the necessary measures and expects that order will soon be restored at Arequipa."

No Bloodshed

The government announced that there was no bloodshed when the rebe's took possession of the city.

Recently the government has directed its attention to remedying the monetary situation, the sol having dropped this week to the lowest point on the exchange in a decade.

The present government of President Augusto B. Legula was established upon Leguia's re-election August 4. 1929, for a term of six years.

The leaders of the polt were arrested on charges of planning to start a revolutionary uprising throughout the country with the president's assassination as the starting signal.

Charges Found True

ILLEGAL ACCEPTANCE OF INSURANCE PREMIUMS

"The District Attorney brought to our notice a letter addressed to him charging Supervisor C. H. Hayden with having sold insurance to the county, and fidelity bonds to the county officials, contrary to Section 920 of the Political Code which reads as follows:

Members of the legislature, state, county, city, and township officers, must not be interested in any contract made by them in their official capacity, or by any body or board of which they are members."

and provides that such action by county or city officials or school trustees constitutes malfeasance and renders the officer liable to removal from office.

"After investigation, by the Grand jury and District Attorney and after listening to the testimony given under oath by Supervisor Hayden, the Grand Jury found the charges contained in said letter regarding said Supervisor Hayden were true.

"The Grand Jury resolved to take no further action against Supervisor Hayden for illegal collection of premiums on county insurance inasmuch as it appeared that he had returned to the insurance companies involved, all premiums illegally received by him or by his son for the sale of insurance to Contra Costa County.

"We recommend that when insurance premiums whether of blanket policies or otherwise are paid by the county, the names of the agents receiving said premiums, together with the amounts of the premiums shall be published by the Board of Supervisors."

One Accident At Chicago Air Races

CHICAGO, Aug. 23. —UP— Stunters and racers inaugurated the tenth annual renewal of the national air derby today with a rush of sky capers and speed, marred by only one minor accident.

Fast biplanes streaked around the triangular race course, marked in front of the stands by a yellow and black checkered pylon; crack pilots of the army, navy and marine corps put their mounts through fighting tactics over a field as smooth and green as a millionaire's lawn; commercial air traffic swept in and out of the airport at the bid of green and red air traffic lights; and foreign aces demonstrated their skill at the "stick."

Hardly had the flag been hoisted and the spectacle started, before Fritz Loose, German ace and soldier of fortune, tore the landing gear off his little Junkers plane in landing. His motor failed about 20 feet above the ground. The plane faltered and fell. Loose walked away from the wreckage smiling and unhurt.

One of the many pilots and mechanics who ran to his aid was Arthur L. Caperton, pilot for Samuel Insull, who fought with Loose in China under the nationalist flag. They walked off the field arm in arm.

Doctor Hits At Cocktail

LONDON.—The cheerful theory that a cocktail is good for the appetite has come in for a vigorous shaking at the hands of Dr. H. M. Vernon, an investigator for the Industrial Health Research Board.

"In my opinion the cocktail habit is a very bad one indeed," declared Dr. Vernon testifying before the Licensing Commission. "The explanation for its popularity seems to be that people are shy when they first came together, and cocktails cause them to become less shy, to liven them up and to start conversation. There is also a theory that a cocktail is good for the appetite.

"As an actual fact however the highly alcoholic cocktail is more likely to paralyze than stimulate the average appetite.

HAYDEN IN ANSWER TO CHARGES

On August 2 the Record-Herald published a report of the grand jury, and testimony taken before that body, in which the illegal collection of commissions on county insurance premiums by Supervisor Charles Hayden now seeking reelection in the third supervisor district, was given.

This paper stated at the time that it would gladly publish any statement that Hayden might make in justification of his illegal acts. No such statement has been received but a statement was finally forced in the papers at Martinez, papers that before had entirely deleted that part of the report referring to Hayden.

Hayden in his answer admits all of the charges, but puts forth in extenuation the answer that he did not know he was doing wrong.

Here is the answer of Hayden as printed in the Martinez papers. Every voter should read it and they should read the article today in another column that clearly shows that Hayden has deliberately misrepresented the facts in his statement, or if he is as ignorant as he says he is after serving as sixteen years as supervisor, he is not competent to hold the office.

The Hayden statement follows:

"In view of an article appearing in a Richmond paper on August 2 regarding me and my candidacy for Supervisor I believe it is only right and proper that the true facts regarding my participation in the county insuance should be known. I believed that after I had asked and been given the opportunity to tell the facts to the grand jury and they were satisfied that no willful or moral wrong had been committed the matter was a closed incident, and that every right thinking person would so consider it.

"The facts are that I have been in the insurance business in Martinez since 1905. Since 1907 I have been selling insurance to the county and bonds to county officials, principally in the Fidelity & Deposit Company. In 1919 when I was elected supervisor, the company continued to write the business and I received the commission as formerly. The rates of premium are the same in all reputable companies and the amount of the bonds is fixed by law so that the cost would be the same no matter who wrote the business. I was ignorant of the fact that there was any legal objection to my continuing as agent for county business. When that fact was made known to me I immediately took steps to correct it by returning every penny of the commission to the companies interested.

Refunded Before Quiz

"The article referred to would make it appear that this money missions had been refunded some peared before the grand jury. This is a falsehood and an intentional misrepresentation as are many other statements contained in the article which was not intended in good faith to correct a wrong, but to satisfy a grudge of the person who inspired the article. The com was refunded only after I had aptime before ,and I requested the District Attorney for an opportunity to appear before the grand jury in order that they might hear all the facts from me direct. I was not subpoenaed, cited, or ordered to appear. I had nothing to hide or to be ashamed of. There was nothing dishonest or morally wrong. Everything was open and above board. The grand jury treated me like a gentleman, listened to my statements, and disposed of the matter in accordance with the facts.

Sunshine Camp Benefits

"Returned Commissions: At a subsequent meeting of a small group of insurance agents at which my principal persecutor acted as chief spokesman, the possibility of getting the return of the commissions was discussed and two methods of disposal were suggested. One was to divide the money between the other agents and the other that it should go to some charitable institution. No decision was arrived at and no further meetings were ever held by the agents. Apparently there was no further interest taken in the matter. The suggestion, that if it was available it should be turned over to some charitable institution appealed to me, and after considerable correspondence with the company a check for the full amount was sent at my suggestion to T. B. Swift ,treasurer of Sunshine Camp, for the benefit of that institution, than which I could think of none more deserving. That it will be used judiciously and beneficially goes without saying.

"I had no voice in the designating of that fund, nor have I now anything to say whatever as to its disposal.

"I believe it was welcomed by the association and without a doubt it will do a great deal of good where it is. Some agents may selfishly begrudge it, but the great majority agree that it was properly disposed of.

Says Malice Shown

"It must be apparent to even the casual reader that the article in question is bristling with hatred and malice with intent to destroy, and not actuated by an honest desire to fairly criticize a public official, a privilege to which everyone is entitled, and it will be considered accordingly by the reading public.

I am willing to let by friends and acquaintances and those who have had business dealings with me for thirty-five years pass upon tegrity, and will confidently abide the question of my honesty and in- by their verdict."

HAYDEN'S ALIBI FOR ACCEPTING ILLEGAL FUNDS IS BLASTED

The people of supervisor district No. 3 are going to have a new supervisor after next Tuesday. They are up in arms over the revelations that have been made about the illegal acts of Charles H. Hayden during his term of office. They do not believe that any official should enrich his pockets by illegal acts. Hayden today is subject to removal from office, for the illegal acts he admitted before the grand jury, that he committed.

Now let us take up Hayden's puerile answer and disect it. He features six things in it.

One—He says he was ignorant of the fact that it was illegal for a county supervisor to accept commissions on county business.

Two—When that fact was made known to him he IMMEDIATELY took steps to return EVERY PENNY of the commissions to the companies.

Three—He returned the commissions SOMETIME before he was requested to appear before the grand jury.

Four—He was not subpoenaed, cited or ordered to appear before the grand jury.

Five—He had nothing to hide or be ashamed of. There was nothing morally or dishonestly wrong. EVERYTHING WAS OPEN AND ABOVE BOARD.

Six—The grand jury disposed of the matter according to the facts. The grand jury was satisfied that no WILFUL OR MORAL WRONG had been committed.

Let us look into the transcript of the testimony before the grand jury as well as read the minutes of the grand jury itself. Here is what is found.

ANSWER TO NO. 1

If Hayden did not know that it was illegal to accept commissions from doing business with the county, why did he collect his commissions direct instead of cash his warrants through the county auditor and treasurer, the same as all the other local agents in Contra Costa did.

If he did not think it was illegal business why did he have the companies cash the warrants in San Francisco. Why all this roundabout way of CASHING HONEST AND INNOCENT WARRANTS.

If he didn't know it was illegal to accept commissions from the companies who sold insurance and bonds to the county, he is undoubtedly the only county official who does not know it.

ANSWER TO NO. 2

Hayden says when he found out in September, 1928, that the taking of commissions on county business was illegal he IMMEDIATELY returned EVERY PENNY to the companies that he had ever received.

The minutes of the Grand Jury show that the County Insurance Agents Association wrote to the District Attorney about the county insurance on August 22nd, 1928 and that the matter was taken up by the grand jury on January 22nd, 1929.

Mr. Swingley of the Fidelity & Deposit Co. was subpoenaed before the grand jury on February 26th, 1929 and testified that Hayden had returned to them $1638.50 of his commissions on February 10th, 1929. Hayden testified in April, 1929, that he had returned all commissions on insurance. He did not return the commissions on the bonds he wrote for the county and when the check was sent to Sunshine Camp it was over $2700. How can Hayden say he returned EVERY PENNY IMMEDIATELY?

ANSWER TO NO. 3 AND NO. 4

Hayden says he had returned his commissions SOME TIME before he requested the District Attorney to appear before the grand jury. The SOME TIME was ten days, according to the testimony of the insurance company representative, before the insurance companies books were to be examined by force, they having refused to appear until subpoenaed.

Isn't it idle for him to pose that he returned the spoils before any one knew of it? The grand jury was digging in—they were hard on his heels, his insurance companies were being questioned by the District Attorney and probably the District Attorney was also questioning Hayden himself. The grand jury got busy in January, Hayden returned part of the swag in February and when he knew that he was to be called before the grand jury the same as his company officials had been, he "volunteered" to appear without subpoenae. What a gesture?

His testimony proves that he would never have given back any of the swag if he had not found out that he was being investigated by the District Attorney for the grand jury.

ANSWER TO NO. 5

If all this insurance business of Haydens was thought by him to be honest, why was the report of the grand jury smothered. Not a paper in his district printed the complete report. They all deleted the references to finding Hayden guilty of insurance graft.

ANSWER TO NO. 6

The grand jury findings were that Hayden WAS GUILTY. How can he then say they said there was no willful or moral wrong commtited? Read the grand jury report.

If he was trying to be honest why does he not now live up to the jury's instructions that all warrants in the future be made out to the local agent receiving the business? Since Hayden's exposure the Grand Jury request for daylight on the warrants has been ignored and the same old method pursued of warrants issued direct to all other agents for business placed with their companies by the County but when Hayden's companies get any business the warrants are made directly the same as heretofore. To whom does Hayden's companies send the commissions now? Thousands of dollars have been cashed in this manner during the past fiscal year.

Hayden used to be a School Trustee in Martinez. As such he received commissions from the companies with whom he placed School Insurance. When objection was made to this practice he resigned his trusteeship, prefering to continue with the profits of the school insurance in preference to the non-pay trustee job.

Yet he says he didn't know it was illegal to accept commissions from a company selling a county goods. Its a laugh.

SCOTS ENJOY PICNIC AT PARK

To the skirling of the pipes and the tunes of their native land, Scotland, more than 500 members of the Richmond, Oakland and San Francisco St. Andrew's societies gathered at their annual joint picnic at Alvarado park yesterday afternoon.

Scottish dancers and pipers from many sections of California participated, in costume, in the Highland dancing and bagpipe competition held during the picnic.

Alex Cameron of San Francisco captured first honors in the piping contest and was presented a medal donated by the Clorox Chemical company of Oakland. Second place was taken by James Mitchell of Oakland. Judges for the piping contest were John Stuart of Vallejo and Neil McCallum of Oakland.

First place in the Highland Fling dancing competition was taken by Miss Jessie Smiley of Los Angeles, while Miss Bessie Craig of Oakland earned second honors.

Sword Dance

An exhibition sword dance was then performed by Miss Jean Stewart of Oakland. A Highland reel was also presented by Mrs. Jean Gleenlees Avery, Miss Bessie Craig, Miss Jessie Smiley, and Miss Nessie Monroe. Alex Cameron, James Mitchell, and Angus Craig piped for the dancing.

In the waltzing contest, Mrs. James Stuart of Richmond and Andrew Caldow of San Francisco were the winners.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Poliock of Oakland took first honors in the Shottische competition. Music for the dancing was furnished by Barnaman's Old Time orchestra.

Speeches Made

Preceding the dancing competition, several prominent members of eastbay Scottish societies spoke on behalf of their respective organizations. The speakers were Peter McCallum, president of the Richmond St. Andrew's society; Murdo McKenzie, president of the San Francisco St. Andrew's society; John Weir, vice-president of the Oakland St. Andrew's society; and Mrs. Eliza Wissing, president of the San Francisco Daughters of Scotia. George McLeod, secretary of the Oakland St. Andrew's society led in community singing.

In the afternoon races were held. The winners of the various events were as follows: Men's race, C. R. Cording, first, R. Avery, second; married ladies race, Mrs. Howden, first; Mrs. W. Hattich, second; egg and spoon race, Mrs. McLaughlin, first; Mrs. George Black, second; three-legged race, Cox and Avery, first; George Black and William Clark, second; race for boys under twelve, James Warrington, first; Jess Jidly, second; race for girls under twelve, Flo Cameron, first; June Hattich, second; race for boys under five, Bennie Howden, first; Robert McLennan, second; race for girls under five, Jean Clark, first; Dorris Adams, second.

The picnic committee for Richmond was headed by James Stuart, who was assisted by William Clark, William Patterson, William Doull, Robert Fulton, and George Black.

The members of the committee for San Francisco were Andrew Caldow, George St. J. Bremner, and James Stewart.

The committee for Oakland included: Archie Glenn, Hugh Forgie, and William Gow.

Long Illness Claims Duke Of Northumberland

LONDON ,Aug. 23.—UP—The Duke of Northumberland, 50, soldier and Conservative politician, died today after a long illness of pneumonia.

The duke, eighth to hold the ancient title, was distinguished as a soldier, a nd became widely known as a Conservative political figure in 1919 when he conducted an intensive anti-communist campaign.

He was part owner of the Conservative Morning Post, and became chairman of the board of directors. He had succeeded to the title in 1918, seven years after his marriage to Lady Helen Gordon-Lennox, youngest daughter of the Duke of Richmond. They had four sons and two daughters. His heir is the 18-year old Earl Percy.

The duke, who had been chancellor of Durham University since 1929, served in South Africa in 1901-1902, and was decorated, and later served with distinction in Egypt and in the World war in France.

VERBISCIO ASPIRES TO THE OFFICE OF CONSTABLE IN THE TENTH TOWNSHIP

(SAN PABLO)

At the ernest request of my many supporters in this Tenth Township, (San Pablo) I have been asked to outline my principles in the event that I am elected Constable at the election to be held here on Tuesday next, August the 26th. Should you elect me, as I trust that you will, I can but say, that my ideals in filling this office can be better shown in actions than in words—in the true service which I promise to give, in square dealings, and in showing no partiality what-so-ever. Further, I assure the voters of this township that I will not allow myself to be run, swayed, or controlled by any set or group of politicians, but will be open at all times to receive suggestions from any and all.

During the past six years, I have been engaged in the Roofing and general contracting business in the town of San Pablo under the name of The Ideal Roofing Company, and in a small way have tried to benefit the community by using a certain make of shingles which are manufactured right here in San Pablo, rather than deal with firms elsewhere.

Therefore, I earnestly solicit your support and can readily assure you that, if I am elected, I will uphold the law, protect the rights of all property holders and residents of this district, and at all times will have the interests of the people at heart.

CLOTHES AND THE MAN

WHEN the fashion reporters describe weddings, the men's clothes never get an even break. Equal rights for both sexes, say we. Therefore, after writing yesterday's column about "clothes and the woman," wherein we tried to give you a news résumé of the present and immediate future of what women will wear, we set to work to compose a column about "clothes and the man."

MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

Here's the newest note in masculine wearing apparel: Surveyors and engineers employed by the Westchester County Park Commission appeared on their field of operations wearing shorts during last week's hot spell. Soon after the engineers set the fashion, officials of the Park Commission report that common laborers procured knives and shears and cut off the lower ends of their long pants.

Three rousing cheers! This is the most inspiring and intelligent news of men's modes which we have encountered since last spring, when the boys at half-a-dozen colleges made an abortive attempt to popularize shorts. Practically all the rest of their sex sneered at them and shivered to the depth of their conventional souls at the idea.

"New York men," smugly insisted New York clothiers and tailors, "are cold to the suggestion of wearing shorts." Undoubtedly, in May. But how New York men can have preserved even a metaphorical chill, during this summer of record-breaking heat, is beyond our understanding.

FOR no woman can write, in August, of men's clothes without pointing out, if for the thousandth time, how perfectly terrible they are, from the standpoint of health, comfort and looks. Yes, we have said this before, but we doubtless shall say it again! It seems to us that the hypothetical visitor from Mars, condemned, for his sins, to ride the subway in August, would imagine himself surrounded by two different races, so vast is the difference between the hot weather costumes of men and women.

The latter wear a pound or two of silk, with thin slippers and light hats, with bare necks and arms, with almost bare shins. Men go swathed from throat to wrist to ankle, tightly girt about the waist, heavily shod. Some wear knickers, with the sort of woolen socks which would have kept Byrd comfortable in Little America. Some wear vests. Some wear collars that are stiffly starched as well as high and tight. Truly, as Richard Savage, one candid spokesman for his sex, writes us:

"Men are weak fools and slaves to fashion, or we would not wear the clothes we do in summer."

There was an effort, a year ago, to popularize pajamas as day wear for men in warm weather. It failed, and its success would not, we think, have worked much improvement in comfort. Pajama pants are too tight, too long—therefore, too hot.

The blouse brigade tried to start a new fashion for men about three weeks ago. All of eighteen valiant males marched across Fifty-ninth Street and down Fifth Avenue, wearing blouses in place of coat, vest, shirt and belt. It was a perfectly sound innovation and it sunk without a trace. That was that.

Cabled dispatches from England report a sporadic effort to popularize shorts over there, dampened (literally) by the brisk showers of the well-known British climate.

Also (again cheers) an obviously excited foreign correspondent has informed us that the Prince of Wales is appearing in public this summer minus a vest and minus braces, or suspenders. We always have felt that young man had points about him!

THE last kick in the sartorial news for the sterner sex is the agitation started in Washington for be-yew-tiful uniforms for our diplomats—plumed hats 'n' swords 'n' everything—in place of the magple monotony of conventional full dress. This projected reform seems to us a perfectly grand idea. But why limit it to diplomats? Why should not other men wear really magnificent and varied colors, cuts and materials, at least for evening attire? In the spacious days of great Elizabeth, even in the days of George Washington, men managed to be ornamental as well as useful because of the way they dressed.

Oh, well, no such fall fashion note can be expected. Not only the groom but every other male will wear the conventional black, when he isn't wearing the conventional dark blue, brown or gray. The real news about clothes and the man is that there isn't any—as usual!

II. The Plan Worked

Edna fell for the young man
Who lives next door,
But she could find no one
To introduce them.
Though she smiled at him,
Sat alone on the porch,
Played her uke,
All seemed in vain,
For he never came nearer.
He acted as if he didn't even know
That she was so near and yet so far.
Then one day Edna lost her patience—
Come what may
She must meet him
And speak to him herself.
She acknowledged in her inmost heart
That woman is the pursuer
And man the pursued.
So she dialed the operator,
Found out his number,
Then called. . . .
"Hello," she said, as he answered.
"Would you mind calling
"The young lady next door?
"Edna is her name.
"You see, their telephone
"Seems to be out of order.
"And I must speak to her now."
"Of course," said the young man.

I just saw Edna with that young man
Having loads of fun
Frolicking in the cool water . . .
So I am passing on the bucket.

THINK IT OVER

By Alfalfa Smith

GIVE me something different.
I do not want those lilies,
I want painted ones.
Those roses should be blue.
Haven't you any blue roses?
I want something different.
If they are going to have long dresses in Paris, I want mine short. I want darkness to destroy darkness. I long for something different.
I am never satisfied.
I am even getting tired of the things I have been worrying about, but I do not want to give them up. They remind me of chocolate morsels—I love them so.
Oh how I long for something different!
Life is change—change—change!
Don't you think so, or are you different?

A DISH A DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

One of the rules for menu planning that dietitians are always harping on is "Don't repeat." Variety on the table is so important, they will tell you, that any distinctive flavor should not appear on the menu twice in one day, and preferably not within two days. They have their reasons, very good ones, no doubt. But is any housewife going to take their rules seriously when the delicious peaches in our markets this week simply cry out to be served for breakfast, luncheon, dinner and almost any time between meals when one wan's to wander out to the icebox and get something to eat?

KAREN HOLLIS

If your family are the sort whose appetites must be humored, that might be overdoing the peaches a bit. But for many of us who look on peaches as the supreme achievement of Mother Nature, Luther Burbank and the modern method of rushing ripe fruits to market, they can't appear too often.

Whether you serve them only occasionally or almost daily, you will want to try this recipe for frozen peach pudding. It can be made in an old-fashioned freezer, but is best when made in a mechanical refrigerator, or simply submerged in ice and salt for five to six hours. Take particular note of the almond flavoring, an important item in frozen or cooked peach desserts. It routs the bland, pallid flavor of custard, and heightens the flavor of the fruit.

FROZEN PEACH PUDDING

½ cup rice
½ teaspoon salt
1 quart milk
1 cup sugar
2 egg yolks
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 cup peaches, cut very small
¾ cup cream, whipped
½ teaspoon almond flavoring

Put the rice in a fine sieve and wash thoroughly in running water. Drop it, a little at a time, in two cups of rapidly boiling water, salted and let cook for five minutes. Drain. Pour about one-half cup of the milk on the cornstarch, pour the rest on the rice, add sugar, and cook in a double boiler for thirty-five minutes. Beat the egg yolks and add them and the cornstarch and milk mixture to the rice. Cook until thoroughly blended; about five minutes. Cool slightly and add flavoring and peaches. When entirely cool, stir in whipped cream. Pack in tray of mechanical refrigerator and freeze.

Modernizing the Home

A $1,600 Plan for a Three-Room Apartment

By Alma Zaiss

Dear Miss Zaiss:

I wish to furnish a three-room apartment and have approximately $1,500 or $1,600 to spend. I have thought of these items for the living room. A deep rust broad loom carpeting, a rust Lawson sofa, club chair, dropleaf table, twin commodes for the sofa ends, another comfortable reading chair, a book trough end table, a smoking stand, twin lamps for the commodes, two reading lamps, a radio (and a low bench in front of it), a small bookcase (low bookshelves will be built in under the two windows and the bookcase will be additional). Questions:

1. What material do you suggest for sofa?
2. Material and color for club chair?
3. Type of chair, color, etc., for other reading chair?
4 Kind of bookcase?
5. Type of twin commodes?
6. What kind of lamps? (I don't want a table lamp for the dropleaf.)
7. Curtains? (For next fall, not summer curtains.)
8. Shall I have a mirror? Where?
9. What material for scarf under twin lamps, on radio top, table, etc?

I want the living room to be English in character—Queen Anne period, perhaps. What do you think of this for a floor plan for these pieces (sketching diagram)?

Now for the bedroom: I want simple, light pieces. Is walnut "good" now? Can you suggest some type of furniture? I would like yellow Celanese curtains and yellow bedspreads. Suggestion for scarfs? What kind of boudoir chair? Kind of rugs or carpet?

For the breakfast room I'm going to get a birch dropleaf table and four chairs. What do you think of that? Thank you so much for any suggestions you may offer. I shall be extremely grateful. (Miss) R. McC.

Color and Fabrics Become the Major Problem

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

HOW many-sided the home-furnishing question is as we consider it for different households. In our last discussion the problem was not so much what to have as how to get it, for we had only $300 to spend for complete furnishings for a five-room home. Today $1,500 to $1,600 is available for three rooms.

Well . . . having found it possible (by careful and persistent shopping) to get together quite interesting appointments for the $300 five-room home, the second problem seems beautifully easy and becomes more a question of finesse than of fact.

In general Miss McC. has made very good suggestions for each of her rooms and, with a few exceptions, we shall accept them. Her chief need is for advice upon color and fabrics, the points upon which the success of almost every room turns.

Doubtless there is a small foyer in this apartment, and if so, it should not be without one attractive group as an introduction. The illustration shows a table and mirror that would occupy very little space, yet both pieces possess dignity and charm.

The diagram shows our plan of arrangement for the living room. The book trough, smoking stand and radio bench suggested by Miss McC. have been omitted or, rather, replaced by pieces that seem to provide better balance. We have added three chairs, a desk (and chair) and a coffee table to her list. Had she drawn her original floor plan to scale she would have seen the need for them.

The furniture for this room may be English in character, with an occasional Queen Anne piece—perhaps the secretary-desk and chair, the coffee table and little end table (5). We would not use a distinctly modern bookcase in this room if it is to be Queen Anne in feeling. Miss McC's suggestion for the dropleaf table is good, but the table should be accompanied by a pair of straight chairs, or perhaps open-arm chairs with open wooden backs of good design. The long wall needs these pieces to make a pleasing group, and the room generally needs them to provide contrast for the many softer pieces. Little book or end tables may prove better than commodes for the sofa group, since we have used the radio and a balancing table flat against the wall.

Now for the color scheme and fabrics: Rust color is charming but it must be balanced and varied by other tones or it grows rather tiresome to live with. An interesting color scheme built around it might include walls of deep warm cream, a rust colored rug, sofa covered with a good looking damask in varied greens (if possible, tones combining yellowish and bluish greens in the weave of the material itself). The same material or coloring could be repeated in the long over-curtains which are needed at the windows to give tone to the room in the absence of architectural features. If Miss McC. prefers patterned to plain curtains it would be charming to use hand-blocked linen showing a design in rust, yellow, greens and browns on an ivory, cream or green ground. Should she use the green damask curtains she will need the emphasis of pattern on the chairs, or the room will seem flat and lacking in style.

If desired, the bookcase at the end of the room may be painted a dark, soft green, against which the colored books will furnish plenty of brightness, and the club chair shown in this group may repeat the linen used for the curtains. The low coffee stand could be either walnut or dark oak, or a painted piece in old dull yellow would be interesting with the rust-colored rug and green. The standing lamp (5) may have a parchment shade banded with deep rust and edged with a narrow line of green, or the shade could be of soft light yellow silk. Table (4) should be a simple piece with a picture above it, balancing a similar grouping with the radio.

Over against the long wall which carries the dropleaf table, the seats of the two chairs will be seen against the cream wall and brown walnut, so we do not want them to seem too important. A mixed material in a small pattern that shows more gold than other colors would be a good choice. The dropleaf table really needs a lamp . . . one having a pottery base in varied green tones and a yellow shade. A mirror, or preferably a colorful picture, may be used above this table.

Upholstering for the two easy chairs may be, for the chair to the left, a repetition of the figured linen; chair to the right (perhaps a medium-sized wing chair) to be covered in rust-colored rep in a novelty weave. This [illegible] wears very well and the rust w[illegible] effective against the green of [illegible]ns. It will [illegible]ntion in the height of ch[illegible]ntial to this type of room.

Of our own [illegible] we would omit the pair of [illegible]he sofa tables and use an e[illegible]ding lamp beside the chair [illegible]scarves of any kind are needed [illegible] the table tops and radio, but [illegible]om would not be complete without a fine large picture above the [illegible] perhaps a study in brown tones which [illegible] it, over the big table there should be another fair-sized picture that is very nice in coloring and for variation the pictures above table (4) and radio (3) should also be in color.

The birch furniture for the breakfast room is a good suggestion, but for the bedroom, if Miss McC. wants a "light" room, she will find that Sheraton or Hepplewhite styles in maple or mahogany are better for her purpose than walnut. To be sure, walnut is still being used, and is very lovely, but it is difficult to get a light effect with it. Another suggestion—less expensive—is painted furniture which, with pretty walls and hangings, would give a very fresh, crisp effect. Soft green painted furniture would be good with the yellow Miss McC mentions.

We would also recommend that overcurtains be used with the yellow celanese, which is likely to be rather strong in color. If only one set of curtains is wanted yellow voile or organdie would give a softer effect. The rug color depends upon the wall and curtains and the combination of furniture. For a good, inexpensive floor covering the Seminole or Klearflax carpet in a little checked pattern in two tones of green would be effective. If Miss McC wants something more expensive she could have a plain green carpet slightly streaked in jaspe pattern, or a good Oriental in light colors, including soft greens and browns. Good Orientals are expensive, however, and, as we have been saying for the past two or three years, if one cannot afford a good Oriental it is best to use something else.

If yellow curtains are at the windows we would not have yellow bedspreads; the color would be too strong and make the tops of the beds too prominent. A soft green, or yellow and green or cream and green would be better. And again we would not use scarves. But if Miss McC insists, let them be of plain deep cream linen, perhaps with a little block pattern in greens and yellows.

As to the boudoir chair—its type depends altogether on how Miss McC. likes to use it. If she doesn't care about leaning back and lounging in it, then the simple low square type or a little chair with a French back will do. If she wants more of a resting chair, a small wing type would be excellent.

This completes the recommendations for our problem, and although definite prices are not quoted, as in our $300 problem, we are certain that if the plan is worked out during the sale period it will come within the budget suggested.

Household Hints

Keep the cords on the vacuum cleaner and other electric appliances free from kinks because these wear on the insulation and are liable to cause breaks. When worn spots appear cover them at once with bicycle tape. These precautions will prolong the service of the cord.

You can frost the plain electric bulbs: take sufficient white shellac to cover a bulb when dipped into it, and add alcohol to make a very thin mixture; dip the bulbs in this or apply it with a brush, making a thin, even coat. By mixing a little dye with the shellac any colored bulb may be produced.

Trouser Cabinet For the Man

RATHER than hang his trousers indiscriminately in the closet with coats, vest and other articles of dress, an ingenious male had a cabinet made for these garments alone. The cabinet may be as long as desired, fitted with a bar across the top, similar to the wardrobe rod for hanging other clothes, and one or two doors attached to protect the garments from dust. It may be painted any color and serve as a wall piece or be placed in the dressing room. It is possible to utilize an old bookcase for such a cabinet, merely adding doors and a rod inside.

Brown Tweed

BUTTONS vary the trimming feature on daytime dresses of both silks and wools. The travel, or utility frock, of brown tweed is charming with its row of matching buttons. The one-piece dress seems to be the prevailing style as yet, although the two-piece threatens to return ere winter comes. In this case the upper portion is a tunic blouse while the skirt is pleated.

Showing Children Off

"ELLEN, speak a piece for the ladies." "Dorothy, show Mrs. Drew how well you can dance." "Harold, play your new piece for Aunt Emily." "Burt, show the company your report cards, isn't it wonderful?" "See those book shelves. Tom made them. He's a mechanical genius." Haven't we all seen proud parents showing off their young ones?

And telling all their cute sayings and smart doings in front of them? And "dolling" them up to show off their good looks?

Small wonder if these youngsters become insufferably conceited; and are made to suffer most of their lives until the conceit is knocked out of them.

Even if these children do not learn to overvalue themselves, in most cases, they become dreadfully self-conscious. In all their social contacts they go through agonies, constantly fearing that they are doing or saying the wrong thing. When they do not receive from their associates the praise and homage accorded to them at home they are most unhappy. They have been brought up on attention and adulation and they cannot live without it.

It goes without saying, that our younsters need encouragement. We must recognize and praise their efforts and achievements, in order to spur them on to continued effort and success. But our commendations should be given casually and only when merited, and more important still, in private. Expressing one's appreciation is very different from showing a child off to all one's good-natured friends!

There are occasions when older children who have an unusual gift, such as a mastery of a musical instrument, can afford guests real pleasure. In such cases, if the guests request it, a child might be asked to entertain them, not in the spirit of showing off his accomplishment, but because he desires to give freely whatever he can.

The people who live the happiest and most successful lives are conspicuously free from self-consciousness. They can bend their energies to whatever task comes to hand, without any thought of self, without gloating over their ability, or fearing their inadequacy. Happy those younsters who are not handicapped by self-consciousness.

Salvage Mirrors

Many an attractive old-fashioned mirror is discarded for the sole reason that the glass needs rebacking. Old French beveled glass mirrors and difficult to replace there days and many a dollar can be saved by sending them for a freshening treatment which is very inexpensive.

MORE MINIATURE SPORTS

THE success of midget golf courses proves Americans can take their sport in tablet form. When addicts of the pee-wee pastime started driving golf balls through a crooked stovepipe, we imagine St. Andrew rolled over in his grave or maybe fractured his halo. But, anyway, the miniature game caught on.

If you can condense a three-mile walk around an eighteen-hole links into a 40x80 foot lot, then the time is coming when the pee-wee enthusiasts will demand to play golf in a rocking chair. Now is the time for canny manufacturers to look around and see what other games they can condense.

America is already playing tennis on six-foot ping pong boards and hardy athletes for years have been doing their horseback riding on merry-go-rounds. But the Tom Thumb country clubs have blazed the way to bigger sports in a smaller way.

* * *

We would not be surprised if, by late autumn, it is possible to take a hunting trip through Maine in any shooting gallery on Sixth Avenue, New York. Just put a clump of papier mache trees and some artificial underbrush in the middle of a vacant store and you have a Maine forest. At least, it's as much a forest as a pee-wee course is a links.

Erect a counter near the entrance with hunting guns laid out on it and the illusion is almost complete. Then, at the other end, behind the phony trees and bushes, you can have clay moose and deer instead of clay pigeons whizzing by and the customers will flock in.

If a person can get a kick out of shooting golf down an alley of excelsior painted green, then he can get the thrill of his life killing clay animals at the other end of a shooting gallery. And every Wednesday and Saturday, as an added attraction, they could throw in a live guide behind the artificial trees.

If condensation is the watchword in healthy outdoor sports, then football can be played on a pinhead board and you can go canoeing in the kitchen sink.

We also expect to live and see the day when you can install a bowling alley on a circular staircase and there will be floorwalkers in orange juice stands.

* * *

One of the things that put miniature golf over is that it can be played at night. They also play baseball this season after the sun has set and other sports will likely follow suit. Heretofore, the only outdoor sports that were conducted after nightfall were the crew races at the Poughkeepsie regatta. But they are always rowed with no illumination except from spectators lighting their pipes.

But if golf and baseball can be played when the shades of night have fallen, so can many other games. In fact, getting sunburned is the only outdoor sport we can think of that would not be successful under arc lights.

So it looks like a big boom in night pastimes. You can see the Notre Dame football team play West Point in the afternoon and the Navy that same evening. With Graham McNamee at the microphone describing the shadows perfectly.

If an open golf tournament gets caught in another heat wave they can call it off on account of sunshine and turn on the floodlights and play it that night.

It really looks as if our future athletes will never get to bed.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."
Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

B. FITTS SEEN AS WINNER OF ELECTION

people. He pledges tax reforms. The great bulk of ex-service men throughout California, and their women folks, are rallying to the support of Buron Fitts.

South Strong For Fitts

Reliable reports from Los Angeles indicate that Fitts will get a clear majority over both Rolph and Young of 75,000 votes; that he will carry Orange, Ventura, and San Diego.

Los Angeles county leads the state in Republican registration, with 585,746; San Francisco has 192,787; Alameda 179,811. Thus, Los Angeles county has 213,148 more votes than both the big Bay counties combined.

Contra Costa's Vote

Contra Costa county is steadily gaining in importance with a Republican registration of 22,596, and is now thirteenth in the state in Republican voters and in total registration.

Buron Fitts, though living in Los Angeles ,showed while Lieutenant Governor, in the selection of the important committees, that he was fair and non-sectional in his political perspective.

And his pledge now of fealty to the great state of California as a whole, with special favors to none, backed by his reputation for honesty and integrity, makes an appeal to the people of this State reflected in the steady shift of votes to the Fitts column during the past three weeks.

Fitts Shown In Big Lead

A recent straw ballot conducted by the California representative of of a national advertising firm showed:

County	Candidate Young	Rolph	Fitts
Los Angeles	267	834	1899
Orange	29	19	52
San Diego	31	34	35
Riverside	39	5	56
Ventura	12	27	61
San Francisco	21	59	20
Alameda	20	41	39
Santa Clara	27	35	38
Yolo	43	31	20
Sacramento	38	43	19
Yuba	44	29	27
Monterey	26	51	23
	597	1208	2295

Fitts probably will lead Rolph by 125,000 votes. Young is a badly beaten man, and knows it.

Mamer Leads Air Derbyists

ABERDEEN, S. D., Aug. 23.—UP—Nick Mamer of Spokane led four other Seattle to Chicago air derby fliers here from Bismarck, N. D., landing at 4:52 p. m. today.

One minute later John Blum, Seattle, taxied in and gained one minute on Mamer, cutting Mamer's elapsed time lead to two minutes.

Rail Rates Slashed In Drought Area

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—UP—The American Railway association today announced emergency freight rate reductions effective in northwestern drought areas would be one-third of the regular rate.

The new tariffs on water, feed and stock which is not shipped to market will be effective immediately. The action was taken on recommendation of railway traffic managers who met in Chicago yesterday.

VEALE'S RECORD AS SHERIFF SCORED BY FACT SURVEY

Sheriff R. R. Veale, who has occupied the office for the past thirty-six years, and who now wants to succeed himself, although he has told voters repeatedly for sometime that if they would support him, he would not run again, says that he is running on the record he has made, and on the back of a card that he is distributing he gives a number of reasons why he should be elected.

Reason 1.—Thirty-one grand juries have passed upon his record.

.....He neglects to tell how they have passed on his record, but if you will read the grand jury report in this issue, you will see what an investigation of his office shows.

Reason 2.—Successful in apprehension of criminals.

The answer is there is a long list of major crimes committed in Contra Costa county that have never been solved. Among them are the Bessie Ferguson murder case, parts of the woman's body being found in this county; the murder of Jerry McDonald in the Rodeo bank robbery, the robbery of the Southern Pacific train at McAvoy, the robbery of the bank at Danville. Possibly this is "successful apprehension of criminals."

Reason 3.—Has saved Contra Costa thousands of dollars by efficiency in obtaining confessions from criminals, thereby avoiding expenses of trials.

The answer to the claim that savings were effected, found in the grand jury report in this paper. Read it.

Reason 4.—In civil cases has highest reputation for prompt, courteous and efficient attention to all matters.

There is no legitimate reason why the service of civil papers should not be given proper attention, as all of the fees and the mileage goes into the pockets of the sheriff, while the work in most cases is done by deputies whose salaries are paid by the taxpayers of the county. In many counties of the state, fees for serving civil papers go into the treasury of the county.

Reason 6.—Is a friend of the school, the church and home.

Ask the pastors of the churches of the county how they feel on this claim. As to the homes, ask the women of the county what their opinions are.

The report of the grand jury, that is again published in today's paper was rendered to the superior court, after a painstaking investigation. That body was made up of prominent men and women from every section of the county. The report is not made up anything but the cold truth, and the truth sometimes hurts.

During the entire campaign, Sheriff Veale, nor his friends have attempted to refute the charges that were made in the report of the grand jury. The report is a public document and is on file in the office of the county clerk at Martinez.

It is also a fact that this is not the first grand jury that had the sheriff before it on similar charges, and in every instance he promised that the practices would be stopped.

Long terms of office are conducive to bad government That is shown when the people of the United States refuse to elect a president for more than two terms, it is shown in state matters, by the fact that only once in the history of California has a governor been elected for a second term.

If reports from all sections of the county indicate anything, the feeling of the people of Contra Costa seem to be that a change in the office of sheriff will be beneficial.

Eastern Coast Hit By Gales

NEW YORK, Aug. 23. —UP—A northeast gale struck the upper Atlantic seaboard today, damaging shipping and drenching several cities with a heavy rainfall.

High tides rolled up on the Maine and New Hampshire coasts. They extended as far south as Massachusetts, where water front property was endangered.

The forty members of the crew of the steamer Emily A. Foote were saved after an all-night battle with the storm. The vessel was pounded to pieces and the crew took to life boats.

Parts of New York City were damaged by the heavy rainfall. Sewers in Flatbush and Canarsie were clogged and the rain water backed up in the streets.

LEWIS, Del., Aug. 23 — The Consolidated Fishing company's fishing steamer Emily A. Foote, was pounded to pieces early today by a 50-mile hurricane that struck her while she was heading for her home port here. Captain John M. George of Palmer, Va., and the crew of 40 men escaped in life boats.

The storm was one of the worst ever experienced in Delaware bay. The Emily A. Foote, a 100 foot Diesel engine craft, was valued at $100,000.

The crew fought the storm and sought to ride their vessel into port but the wind was too high. When it was apparent the ship could not withstand the gale, the men took to life boats and rode in past the outer breakwater to safety.

Reports Hint Wales Will Marry Soon

LONDON Aug. 23—UP—Londons attention was centered once again today on the possibility that the Prince of Wales will soon terminate his bachelorhood.

The fact that the latest member of the royal family is a princess rather than a prince as generally had been hoped, was believed by many persons to have increased the desire of the empire that the British heir finally select a bride.

The recent years, however, have greatly narrowed the scope of the prince's choice. The Swedish princesses, Astrid and Martha, who were once mentioned as possibilities ,have married into the royal family of Belgium and Norway, and the Netherlands crown princess, Juliana, has been reported engaged to Prince Wilhelm Ernst von Erbach-Schoenberg, her second cousin.

Almost the only eligible still mentioned in connection with the prince are Princess Ingrid of Sweden and Lady May Cambridge.

The prince, morever, has appeared to enjoy greatly his bachelorhood and has indicated that he would marry only when and if his heart prompts him to do so. At present there are no such indications.

RECORD-HERALD—ALWAYS FIRST WITH THE NEWS

Court Slashes Womans Term On Rum Charges

SALINAS, Aug. 23.—UP—Judge John Thompson of Monterey today reopened the trial of Mrs. Mary Serrano, 78, convicted for possession of liquor, and reductd her sentence from 100 days to five days.

As she has already served five days in the county hospital, she was permitted to go free.

Judge Thompson asked to be allowed to reopen the case earlier in the day, when the county parole board was meeting on the case.

The parole board, consisting of Sheriff Carl Abbott, District Attorney Albert E. Wrath, and Chief of Police George W. Griffin of Salinas met to consider the woman's case, and decided to send her back to Monterey for the reopening of her trial, upon the telephoned request of Police Judge Thompson of that city.

It was said that the parole board was about to grant the aged woman a parole when the action was taken.

Mrs. Serrano was arrested for possession of liquor and was sentenced to pay a $500 fine or spend 100 days in pail. Not having the money she was ordered to jail, but Sheriff Abbott refused to take the prisoner and sent her to the county hospital.

It had been thought the woman was an old offender, but it later developed that although there was a conviction on the books against her husband, the woman had never been arrested before.

JOHN MOORE IN JUSTICE RACE

To the Voters of the City of Richmond and the Fifteenth Township:

On Tuesday, August 26th, the voters of this City will have the first oportunity of choosing a Justice of the Peace since 1926 when Judge Roth was re-elected.

During this campaign I have endeavored to call on and meet as many voters as possible. Owing to the large area of this City and the fact that there are over 7700 registered voters in Richmond, to see every voter has been impossible.

As a practicing attorney in Richmond for the past five years I believe I have had the necessary training and experience which qualify me to act as Judge of the Justice's Court, and I hope that I shall receive your support next Tuesday.

If elected, I shall endeavor to serve you faithfully and to perform the duties of the office to the end that the Justice's Court of the Fifteenth Township shall be a credit to the City of Richmond and Contra Costa County. I place my candidacy in your hands.

GRAND JURY REPORT, SHERIFF'S OFFICE
Martinez, Calif., March 31, 1927

Hon. A. B. McKenzie,
Judge, Superior Court No. 2.

We find that during the year 1926, the sheriff of this County has had built, entirely by prisoners (supposedly being confined within the County Jail) on Escobar street in the city of Martinez:

One sixteen room house (4 bath rooms.)

One nine room house (2 bath rooms.)

One eight room house (1 bath room.)

The roughing in of the plumbing and all other work of this kind, was done by prisoners, as well as the painting inside and out, and cement work, including sidewalks, walls and floors. The interior finishing work of these houses was done by two expert carpenters, one a Federal prisoner and the other a local prisoner. We also found during our investigation, that six or seven prisoners escaped from the County jail in a few months prior to January 1st, 1927.

The above report is taken from the sworn testimony of the prisoners employed on the work mentioned, and copies of the testimony are now in the possession of the District Attorney and the Foreman of the Grand Jury.

We also found from the sworn testimony of the prisoners themselves, that six or seven prisoners were taken from the Contra Costa County Jail into another county (Napa) by truck to Calistoga, and there put to work upon a private home dwelling, the owner of which is unknown. These prisoners were hauled back and forth daily for about two weeks, returning as late as nine and ten o'clock at night, being guarded only by an elderly man by the name of Brady, who was the truck driver.

Similarly, from the same evidence, we found that during the year 1926, with the same elderly man as guard and truck driver, the Sheriff had prisoners taken to El Cerrito and put to work remodeling the kitchen, dining and living rooms of a dwelling house there, repairing fence and cutting grass, the work requiring two weeks to complete, the prisoners being taken back and forth daily. The inside carpenter work on this house was done by a Federal prisoner.

We would also like to call attention to the testimony of Jailer Neilsen, when before the Grand Jury, to the effect that the men who were worked outside were given eggs, hot cakes and coffee for breakfast, whereas the other prisoners received only bread, mush and coffee, without milk or sugar, and other meals correspondingly better for the prisoners who worked outside of this jail

During the year 1926 the Sheriff had as many as twenty-seven Federal prisoners confined in the County Jail. The Federal Government allows the Sheriff fifty cents per day each for the Board of such prisoners and we have been unable to find where the Sheriff had paid the County any money for soap, towels, water, lights and such perquisites as must be furnished prisoners, ALL OF WHICH WAS IN VIOLATION OF LAW.

Amounts paid in mileage account of Sheriff's Office for year 1926:

R. R. Veale	$12,813.25
W. M. Veale	596.23
R. Harrison	462.62
R. L. McNamara	433.30
	$14,305.50

Amount paid on account of feed for prisoners in jail for 1926: $6,733.35

There is no record kept of, and we are unable to arrive at the amount which the sheriff receives for fees for service of papers in Civil cases, subpoenas, etc., during the year, and which, we are told amounts to several thousand dollars, but the records show that he received from the county in the year 1926, for the feeding of prisoners, mileage and salary alone, the sum of $27,038.75.

In conclusion, we wish to report that we also find that during certain seasons, the Sheriff employs deputies at five dollars ($5.00) per night each, paid from his contingent fee, to patrol the highways ostensibly to protect the property of ranchers, while he receives from $16.00 to $17.00 per night for each car used in such service, which is included in his personal expense account, and paid to him from the General Fund and not out of his contingent fund.
